Miller Weldmaster Takes To The Road with the Miller ROADSHOW

NAVARRE, OH January 25, 2011 - Miller Weldmaster's popular Miller Roadshow is set to begin in Florida on February first. The Roadshow is a travelling tradeshow that goes to the customer. Eric Helmick is the Roadshow Tech who will be demonstrating the machines. Customers will be able to test run their own industrial fabric and learn about the benefits of the Weldmaster welders.

The complete route and schedule is available on the Weldmaster blog and Eric will be updating everyone on his progress through Twitter, facebook and their blog. Customers can schedule a visit from their blog or request more information.

"We know the economy is still challenging to our customers and their travel budgets are tight" said Jeff Sponseller, VP Sales, "The Miller Roadshow goes right to the customers' door and they see their own fabric being welded."

They will be chronicling the entire journey on their blog as the Roadshow crosses the country this year. Visit www.weldmaster.com/blog for more details.
